And after the present administration is ended progressive citizens in all the states will look to a Demoing at the residence of the bride's cratic administration to carry on the provement now under way on the ground that the platform of the Democrats is even stronger than the platforms of other parties with respect to this very vital question.

The result of the general elec ion, while it does not affect the advancement of sentiment for water way improvement in harmony with the doctrines of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, has in a number of instances changed the personnel of the committees of both houses having to deal with river and harbor appropriations.

The Senate committee on commerce, which consists of seventeen members, lost two-Messrs. Bourne, of Oregon, Republican, and Percy, of Mississippi, Democrat-while the House committee on rivers and harbers, lost eight-three Democrats, bers, lst eight-three Democrats. Messrs. Ransdell, of Louisinana; Ellerbe, of South Carolina, and Boehne, of Indiana; Lawrence, of Massachusetts: Davidson, of Wisconsin; Young, of Michigan; Rodenberg, of Illinois; and Kennedy, of Iowa, Republicans.

The only member of the House committee who will continue in Congress is Mr. Ransdell, wire has been elected to the Senate. His distinguished service not only in the House but as president, since its reorganization, of the Natonal Rivers and Harbors Congress, should in the very nature of things place him upon the commerce committee of the Senate.

The hold-over senators on the commerce committee are Messrs. Nelson of Minnesota, Perkins of Calfornia, Smith of Michigan, Stephen. son of Wisconsin, Burton of Ohio, Burnham of New Hampshre, Crowford of South Dakota, and Oliver of Pennsylvania, Republicans; Martin of Virginia, Simmons of North Carolina, Newlands of Nevada, Bankhead of Alabama, Fletcher of Florda, and Reed of Missouri, Demo-

Now that the Democrats are practically assured of control of the Senate, Mr. Nelson will be retired from the chairmanship of the commerce committee for a Democrat, the membership of the committee being increased by the addition of four to make up the ten, the apportionment accorded to the majority party. There are nine Republican members of the committee holding over, two of whom would have to be eliminated, and six hold-over Democrats.

As the election did not change the party complexion of the House, the apportionment of the Rivers and Harbors Committee will remain the same, with Mr. Sparkman, of Florida, as chairman. Of the new members, assuming the present members re-elected will he reappointed, there will be three Democrats and (Continued on page four.)
